About Geraldton

Geraldton is about 420 km north of Perth.

Geraldton is the main city of WA's Mid West, with a busy grain, mineral and fishing port, the Marine Terrace shopping strip, Northgate and Stirlings shopping centres, Geraldton Health Campus and a long foreshore. WA Police recorded 2,421 selected offences in the Geraldton locality in 2025-26, down from 2,810 the year before. Stealing (887) was by far the largest group, followed by drug offences (342) and property damage (227), and there were 108 burglaries.

Housing and local context

Housing stock: Older homes and units near the city centre and foreshore, post-war and 1970s brick homes, and newer estates to the north and south.

The Geraldton locality covers the city centre, where older homes and units sit alongside shops, offices and the foreshore, with post-war and 1970s brick homes in nearby streets and newer estates further out. Businesses along Marine Terrace and the shopping centres draw people from across the Mid West. Strong afternoon winds and salt air make it worth choosing cameras and outdoor equipment rated for coastal conditions.

Common security concerns in Geraldton

- Stealing from shops, homes and vehicles
- Property damage
- Coastal conditions affecting outdoor cameras

Local tip: Cameras and procedures for city-centre businesses

Stealing made up more than a third of the offences recorded in the Geraldton locality last year, with 887. Businesses around the centre and the foreshore get the most from cameras covering entrances and counters, keeping high-value stock locked away, and clear procedures for staff. At home, lock cars and sheds and bring bikes and gear inside.
